

Name _____

Date _____

Relative Clauses Worksheet

Relative clauses can help make a sentence clearer. Combine these sentences using relative clauses. You can use either a defining relative clause (without commas) or a non-defining relative clause (with commas). The first one is done for you.

1. My mom made me dinner. I ate it.

I ate the dinner that my mom made for me.

2. Mary ate swordfish at the restaurant. She hated it.

3. Susan has a blue cell phone. She talks on the phone all the time.

4. William is an award-winning actor. He plays Romeo in the play.

5. The baby was named Alice. Alice cried a lot.

6. He hit a foul ball directly at me. I caught it.

7. He built a tower out of playing cards. I knocked it over.

8. The hotel had no empty rooms. We drove past it.

9. The password for the computer is "fire123". I memorized it.

Name _____

Date _____

Relative Clauses Worksheet

Relative clauses can help make a sentence clearer. Combine these sentences using relative clauses. You can use either a defining relative clause (without commas) or a non-defining relative clause (with commas). The first one is done for you.

1. My mom made me dinner. I ate it.
I ate the dinner that my mom made for me.
2. Mary ate swordfish at the restaurant. She hated it.
___ Mary hated the swordfish that she ate at the restaurant. ___
3. Susan has a blue cell phone. She talks on the phone all the time.
_ Susan, who has a blue cell phone, talks on the phone all the time. ___
4. William is an award-winning actor. He plays Romeo in the play.
_ William, an award-winning actor, plays Romeo in the play. ___
5. The baby was named Alice. Alice cried a lot.
___ The baby, named Alice, cried a lot.
6. He hit a foul ball directly at me. I caught it.
___ I caught the foul ball that he hit directly at me. _____
7. He built a tower out of playing cards. I knocked it over.
___ I knocked over the tower that he built out of playing cards. ___
8. The hotel had no empty rooms. We drove past it.
___ We drove past the hotel that had no empty rooms. ___
9. The password for the computer is "fire123". I memorized it.
___ I memorized computer password which is "fire123".