Similes – Patterns

Similes are comparisons between two things. There are two different patterns that are used with similes.

Pattern 1: verb + like + noun
Example: He looks like a monkey.
Pattern 2: as + adjective + as + noun
Example: She is as young as a baby.

Instructions: Using the patterns shown above, write the answers below.

How could I say that someone:

Is smart ______________________________________
Is tall ________________________________________
Is slow _______________________________________

How could I say that something:

Is old ___________________________________________
Is beautiful ______________________________________
Is scary __________________________________________
Similes – Patterns

Similes are comparisons between two things. There are two different patterns that are used with similes.

Pattern 1: verb + like + noun
Example: He looks like a monkey.

Pattern 2: as + adjective + as + noun
Example: She is as young as a baby.

Instructions: Using the patterns shown above, write the answers below.

Answer key: Make sure their answers are similes and make sense.

How could I say that someone:

Is smart ______________________________________

Is tall ________________________________________

Is slow _______________________________________

How could I say that something:

Is old __________________________________________

Is beautiful ______________________________________

Is scary __________________________________________